

Canoeing - Zêzere II, Castelo de Bode-Constância

Preparation guide | EN

A Zêzere descent between Castelo de Bode dam and Constância River Beach, with its pace affected by river flow.

Practical information

Duration: Around 3-4 hours.

Minimum participants: Minimum group of 15 participants.

Logistics: Transport for drivers only; if flow is insufficient, the Zêzere III variant may be proposed.

The experience

On this section without impounded pools, releases from Castelo de Bode can create rapids and speed up progression. It offers a different setting from the Bouça reservoir section.

Programme and options

The proposal follows the Castelo de Bode-Constância section. During low-flow periods without dam releases, Zêzere III is an alternative to consider; the route should be chosen before organising the group.

Included

Canoeing equipment, supervision, insurance and transport for drivers between the finish and start of the descent.

What to bring

In summer, light clothing, a hat, sunscreen and closed sandals or trainers that can get wet; flip-flops are not recommended. In winter, warm layers for the wetsuit and old trainers if not using boots. Bring water, a light packed lunch, dry clothes and a towel.

Requirements and preparation

Flow also depends on releases from Castelo de Bode Dam; with low water, the Zêzere III variant may be recommended.

Meeting and logistics

Arrange the exact meeting point with the team for the date of your descent.
