

CANYONING

Ribeira de Vessadas

Serra da Arada

From 42,5€

DESCRIPTION

This activity consists of descending the Vessadas River on foot, using jumps into the water, natural slides, sledding, rappelling, and aquatic crossings. It is a very accessible and not very technical canyoning experience, especially suitable for younger groups or large groups, standing out for its playful nature and the fluidity of the route. The activity begins near Poço da Barreira, the meeting point and first obstacle, which offers several ways to progress, including a slide and a jump. At the second drop, there is the possibility of rappelling about 4 meters, followed by several drops generally overcome by jumping or sliding. The largest drop on the route, about 15 meters, is overcome by rappelling.

This river is distinguished by its lagoons of clear water and green hues, which invite jumps and pauses along the descent. Finally, the return to the village of Manhouce is made via another tributary, Manhouce Stream, going up the riverbed and passing by Poço da Silha. This final walk is the most physically demanding part of the activity.

Recommended season: spring and summer (May to September), but possible in the fall & winter.

Minimum age: 12 years.
